Associated Press.

ew York, May 15.—The Herald's Mobile cial gives the particulars of the riot. He s that Judge Kelley had been speaking about uarter of an hour in a frank and temperate anner, when there appeared to be a dispo- on to create a disturbance on the outskirts he meeting. Cries of put him down were rd, to which Mr. Kelley replied: "I tell that you cannot put me down. The Fifth Infantry are at my back, and if they not keep the peace in Mobile, the United tes army can." The tumult suddenly broke at this point by a sudden rush and the tform. About a hundred people were on platform, including many eminent citizens, orters of the press, etc. This rush seemed se the signal for the melee to commence.

The Chief of Police attempted to arrest a gleader on the border of the crowd, and he w a pistol on him. The cry of fire was then sed at the corner of Royal street, and in- stly a perfect fusilade of pistols was opened the crowd who occupied the platform. A ored man was here shot in the head and fell. ne friends dragged Judge Kelley from out range of fire and succeeded in getting him ay unharmed. The fight was then concen- ted right and left among the crowd in the et, who were flying in all directions.

here seemed to be no attempt on the part of police to arrest the violence, or if there s any it was ineffectual, for the firing went on for own way. It was evidently a preconcerted air, and was probably stimulated by incen- ry articles in the rebel press for the past days. Colonel Shepperd has ordered out military here, at once dispatched a body of ops to the Battle House, where Judge Kelley stopping, and where Colonel Sheppard has en up his quarters for the night. Several le-heads to probably not quiet in Mobile to- r were shot in the melee. Mr. Goldsmith s killed, and Mr. Sadburry, late Chief of Po- , was shot in the forehead. A Policeman s badly cut through the head. Every effort ition to renew the riots is shown, it is pro- ble that the city will be placed under martial r.

Colonel Shepperd is now in council with yor Withers. The whole military force, o are encamped about a mile from the place meeting, have been ordered into the city, d are now posted at different points, prepared any attempt of a renewal of the riot.

THE SCAFFOLD.

EXECUTION OF ROBERT FOGLER

For the Murder of Robert W. Dinsmore.

Brief History of the Murder and Subsequent Trials.

Dying Confession of Fogler, in Full.

PARTICULARS OF THE EXECUTION

Yesterday afternoon at half-past one o'clock, Robert Fogler, convicted of the murder of Robert W. Dinsmore, was hanged at Washington, Pa. The facts elicited at the trial were published at the time in the COMMERCIAL, but as four months have elapsed and the matter may be forgotten, we append a brief History of the Murder.

On the night of December 4th, 1866, about ten o'clock, two persons called at the house of Mr. Robert W. Dinsmore, in Hopwell township, five miles north of the borough of Washington, and rapped on the door. Mr. Dinsmore asked them what they wanted, when one of them replied that a near neighbor was sick, and had sent for one of his boys to go down. Mr. Dinsmore then opened the door, and said that they had mistaken the house, as there no boys, when one of the men caught hold of him, saying: "You are the one we want." A deadly combat ensued, during which Mr. Dinsmore was shot and cut in the breast in such a manner that death ensued in about three hours afterwards. Mr. Dinsmore, who was about sixty years of age, was a powerful man, and although fatally wounded fought so, compelling his assassins, who had blacked their faces to avoid recognition, to knock him down with a chair. During the scuffle one of the men kicked the heel off one of his boots. Mrs. Dinsmore, the murdered man's wife, was a witness to the murder, being unable to get away, through fright, immediately after the murder two ruffians fled. The news of the murder spread like wildfire, and aroused the most intense excitement in the county. The Court being in session at the time, the County Commissioners, by the advice of Judge Acheson and the Bar, offered a reward of one thousand dollars for the arrest and conviction of the assassins.

The Arrest.

On the day following the murder, Sheriff Smith visited Mr. Dinsmore's house, and received from Mrs. Dinsmore a description of the assassins. Upon returning to the borough, he noticed Robt. Fogler as suspecting him to be the guilty party, arrested him and placed him in jail. The house in which Fogler boarded was searched, and a suit of clothes belonging to him, covered with mud, and one pair of boots with one heel off, were found. The heel picked up at the scene of the murder, fitted on the boot, and fitted exactly. Fogler took his arrest quietly, until he saw that the evidence was conclusive evidence against him, when he sent for Sheriff Smith, and, in the presence of two witnesses, made the following

Confession.

On Tuesday evening, the 4th inst., about six o'clock, I left town and went to Hon. Wm. Montgomery's farm and met his son, "Babe," whose name is William. We then started in company for Mr. Dinsmore's, and upon arriving there found the family at worship and did not go in. After waiting a few minutes I knocked at the door, and Mr. Dinsmore asked who was there. I told him Mr. Miller's family was very sick and I was sent for one of the boys to come down and go for the Doctor. Mr. D. then opened the door, when I caught hold of him, and he scuffled with me for about five minutes, when I succeeded in getting him down, and "Babe" ran in and stabbed him in the breast in such a manner that death ensued in about three hours afterwards. Mr. Dinsmore, who was about sixty years of age, was a powerful man, and although fatally wounded fought us, compelling his assassins, who had blacked their faces to avoid recognition, to knock him down with a chair. During the scuffle one of the men knocked the heel off one of his boots. Mrs. Dinsmore, the murdered man's wife, was a witness to the murder, being unable to get away, through fright, immediately after the murder two ruffians fled. The news of the murder spread like wildfire, and aroused the most intense excitement in the county. The Court being in session at the time, the County Commissioners, by the advice of Judge Acheson and the Bar, offered a reward of one thousand dollars for the arrest and conviction of the assassins.

The Arrest.

On the day following the murder, Sheriff Smith visited Mr. Dinsmore's house, and received from Mrs. Dinsmore a description of the assassins. I upon returning to the borough, he noticed Robt. Fogler

The Daily Commercial

THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1867.

It is evident from the proceedings of the Supreme Court that the enemies to the reconstruction measures of Congress are to derive no advantage from that quarter, and that the laws of the land, in this respect, will be executed. The applicants, however, still entertain some hopes that in the Mississippi case, the action of the commanding General will be restrained to a certain extent.

On the assembling of the Court in Richmond, on the 13th, the following proclamation was made by the crier:

"Hear ye! hear ye! silence is commanded while the Circuit Court is in session. God save the United States!"

Thereupon the Court, with as much formality as the circumstances would permit—the proceedings having been pre-arranged—proceeded to set free the man who organized and headed the rebellion that had for its object the destruction of the Government of the United States.

The time fixed for the trial of Jefferson Davis is the fourth Monday in November next, and the condition of the bail bond is, that he will "then and there appear from day to day, and stand to abide and perform whatever shall then and there be ordered and adjudged in respect to him with the said court, and not depart from the said court without the leave of the said court in that behalf first had and obtained, then the recognizance to become void, otherwise to remain in full force." But no one supposes he will ever be tried. The curtain falls on a farce, which ends the performance.

A hundred thousand dollar man is Jefferson Davis. It took that sum to get him, and the pledge of the same to get him off. The reward for his arrest and the sum for his release on bail are the same. Twenty bondsmen, at five thousand dollars apiece, share the responsibility and the fame—a moderate price, even should they have to pay it, for the celebrity, to those who prize the sort. If this process should prove a final release, why did the Government pay so big a sum for the privilege of feeding and lodging this man for two years and then let him go?

The question, will Davis be tried? is in everybody's mouth. The belief is quite general that the design is that he shall not be; but public opinion is all powerful, and any determination of this kind that there may be now can be reversed by it. It is the duty of the loyal press of the land, therefore, to give expression to the repugnance which is felt for the idea of letting Davis escape without a trial, and a fair adjudication of the question of his guilt, on the charge of treason. On this point public sentiment is unmistakable, and the loyal press has a plain duty to perform in giving it voice.

The idea that every man should be free to sell his own labor on the best terms he can make, is fast gaining ground, and among no class so fast as the mechanics. It was the essence of our slave system that a bondman's labor did not belong to himself, but to another. Any system that restrains a man in the enjoyment of the fruit of his toil, or interferes with his liberty to dispose of it as he chooses, makes him something less than a freeman. These underlying truths are too essential to every man's well-being to be kept out of sight. Men of intelligence will recognize them and make them the standard of their action.

Our special Mobile dispatch sheds some important rays of light on the riot there. If the shooting was not premeditated, it was indulged in as though the shooters—on the secesh side—felt they had no reason to fear the interference of the police or the local authorities in any way. The fact that but one arrest has been made tells the whole story. That Judge Kelley was not shot was owing chiefly to the bad marksmanship of the man who intended to shoot him. If he is arrested we dare say it will be because of the bungling manner he acted the part set down for him. It is evident that Mobile needs vigorous reconstruction.

The voice of the leading Republican presses is raised in denunciation of the Richmond farce, which concluded by Jefferson Davis, the instigator, organizer and dictator of the rebellion, walking forth unbound. The voice of protestation may be inferred from the following, which is the conclusion of the article commenting on the proceedings, of the Philadelphia Gazette:

"The rebellion in a free country was unprecedented. And in order that history shall not be able to give its parallel, we are witnesses to a decision which the moral sense and sense of justice of all mankind must condemn—a decision which remits a traitor and villain to affluent distinction, which embarrasses all subsequent legislation, which disarms true patriots, and gives weapons of logic to men who unsparingly used those of steel. Fortunately, the South is in no condition yet for another appeal to arms. But it must be always borne in mind that we have practically said that in this country treason is not a crime."

The logic of pistol-shots and the power of club law are asserting themselves again in their old spheres and in their old style. Mr. Kelley encountered this potent species of argument lately in Mobile, and according to the account of it given in yesterday's Commercial, the application of it cost several persons their life, and several others severe wounds. We refer to it, as evidence of the temper and condition of the people of that particular locality, and as probably a sample of what the feeling is throughout the Southern country. A hundred little, incidental indications betray the real pervading sentiment of the community more clearly than any great local demonstration. And from the outcroppings, we judge that the strong, paternal hand of the Government is still needed in the Southern States, and cannot be dispensed with for some time to come.

THE HISTORY.

Two years and a few days more have passed since Abraham Lincoln was President of the United States, and Jefferson Davis was the head of an extensive and malignant insurrection against the United States. At about the same period, in the past, Abraham Lincoln, having been the bloody and terrible insurrection brought to a close, and, to a large extent, through his own faithful and patriotic efforts, was assassinated by a hand deeply in the interest of the rebellion; while Jefferson Davis, after a cowardly flight from the scenes of his public crimes, was captured, in the disguise of woman's clothing. Mr. Lincoln has lain two years in a grave honored by the tears of a redeemed nation; while Davis has enjoyed an elegant retirement at Fortress Monroe, abhorred and despised, as the chief traitor, the persistent rebel, the perjured public officer, the barbarous murderer of prisoners. Mr. Lincoln sleeps in the grave where a nation has laid him, and where a nation's grief still laments his untimely fall. And Mr. Davis comes forth from his retirement hailed by those whose bad cause he served, while representatives of eccentric follies and crack-brained philanthropy hasten from the North to attach their names to a process sure to become historical—the fleeing, by legal forms, of the man whose wanton treachery and obstinate persistence in prosecuting insurrectionary war have caused ten times as much bloodshed and misery as all the wars previously waged in this country.

The part played by Mr. G. Smith excites no surprise. Mr. Greeley's is not so easily accounted for. Both these gentlemen have figured largely, though somewhat differently, in the cause of old-fashioned abolitionism. Mr. Greeley, besides doing good service in the Union interest, has, during the war, indulged his eccentricity in sundry odd flings of speech and action. But his apparent eagerness to be on the bail-bond of Mr. Davis is probably to be ascribed to the same feeling that prompted him in the outset of the war to favor quiet and peaceful acquiescence in secession, and, in the progress of the conflict, to hold peace conferences with the rebels at Niagara. It is probably that idiosyncrancy of Mr. Greeley which seeks its gratification in odd and out of the way methods of philanthropy. If the movement by which the greatest criminal on the continent is released from custody is designed to cheat justice of its dues and the law of its proper administration, or if it shall have this effect by exempting him from trial, it will raise—as it should—a storm of indignation throughout the North, since it can be interpreted in no other way than as a gross insult both to the majesty of the law, and to the loyalty of the Northern people, shown in putting down, at immense cost of life and money, Jeff. Davis's rebellion.

WHAT THEY NEED AND WANT.

The registration in the Southern States has already exhibited the fact that, in some localities, the negro voters are more numerous than the white. This is not, perhaps, an occasion of surprise to anybody who reflects how wide spread was the contagion of rebellion among the white people, and how it raged; and how uniformly the dark race, to the extent of their knowledge and ability, took the side of the United States. That these two facts should, under a process of reconstruction, marked even faintly with justice, exclude from the suffrage a large proportion of the whites and admit to it a like proportion of the blacks, accords with the simplest and truest ideas of safety and right.

At the same time, the condition of affairs suggests the necessity of a thorough and permanent system of education for the newly enfranchised people. Their speedy organization, under loyal auspices, accords no less with their own wishes, than with the responsibility of the Republican party. Their immediate enfranchisement having been rendered necessary, by the stupid policy of the Southern States in rejecting the Constitutional amendment, there devolves on the Republican party an obligation to aid the colored people in availing themselves of the privilege granted. But this temporary measure is not all that is required. The long future demands provision for its requirements. And a thorough and correct system of education is a principal item in that provision. We have been in favor of intelligent suffrage, and the same for all without distinction of color. So we are still. And the spread of intelligence by education, by newspapers, by field speaking, where large numbers can be addressed, we reckon among the means of disseminating information and improving the character of the people.

We are glad, therefore, to see the temporary enterprise, entered on by the Republican party, for organizing the colored people under loyal auspices, and we deem it the more important because it will place them in a political position where they can the more certainly and speedily secure the facilities they need for their elevation, and their wise and right use of their newly acquired citizenship.

Mr. Jefferson Davis announces that he will, as speedily as possible, retire out of sight. Bad justice been done he would have been out of sight long ago, and no expense to him.

The Nashville Banner has information through a private letter just received from Paris, that John C. Breckinridge "will return to the United States immediately on the release of Mr. Davis." The Banner adds:

"If Mr. Davis is not released, but brought to trial, General Breckinridge will wait the issue of the trial, and act accordingly. Though not rich, he is, as he says himself, 'not a beggar yet,' and confidently looks to his old home in Kentucky, and the renewal of his law practice, which, at the time he was called off to Congress, was becoming very lucrative."

The Richmond Times comments with an illy-concealed feeling of regret on Brazilian emancipation. It concludes, however, to use its own language:

"It is as useless to try to stop one of those moral epidemics, that at times sweep over the globe, as to arrest the cholera. War or no war, sooner or later, slavery was bound to come to an end, here as well as elsewhere."

The Times consoles itself that the South is no worse off than the others, and concludes with the remark:

"Southerners who have left the South to make their homes in Brazil have traveled a long ways to get 'out of the frying pan into the fire.'"

If one can live expensively, he can also live cheaply, in Paris. The correspondent of the New York Times tells how it can be done, thus: "For breakfast your bowl of café au lait and roll need cost you but six cents. At noon you may have a bowl of soup, a plate of meat and potatoes or other vegetables, more bread than you want and a glass of wine for fifteen cents. At six o'clock you can have your dinner, soups, meats, vegetables, dessert, and half a bottle of wine at from thirty to forty cents, or you may repeat the midday meal. You can live for thirty cents a day, or lodging included for fifty, though not at the Grand Hotel."

It is represented that the prospect for raising crops this season on the bottom lands of the Mississippi is quite discouraging. The New Orleans Price Current says fences in very many instances have been swept away, mules, and and other stock, scattered or entirely lost, and, above all, the laborers who had been employed to cultivate the lands have, most of them, been compelled to find new and distant homes. In the lower portion of Louisiana, the destruction caused by the floods is almost without precedent. Many planters, we fear, will be entirely ruined in their pecuniary affairs, and it will take a long time to enable even the most favored among them to recuperate. The planters on the left bank of the river have so far not been disturbed by crevasses, and we learn that, as a general thing, wherever the fields have not been overflowed, the young cane looks as promising as could be expected considering the remarkably cold and backward season which we have had up to this time.

The Presbyterian Assemblies—Annual Meetings.

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, Old School, will meet to-day in Cincinnati, and that of the New School branch of the same church, in Rochester, New York. The United Presbyterian Assembly will meet within a few days in Xenia, Ohio. These meetings, occurring annually, are always occasions of interest to the several bodies represented in them. Of late years, owing to the disturbed and critical condition of the country, and the concern felt therein by the religious portion or the community, the deliberations and action of these large assemblies have been contemplated with profound interest by the public generally.

In the Old School Assembly, a small party, in the interest of secession and rebellion, last year occasioned a great amount of trouble; and this is not unlikely to extend itself to the Assembly of this year, inasmuch as the directions of the last Assembly have been ignored or opposed by some to whom they were given. The inflexible loyalty to the country and to the church, which controlled the action of the body in these cases last year, is likely to have the same prevalence this year.

In both the old and new school meetings, the measures initiated last year for a union of the two bodies, will be continued. The report of joint labors of the committees of the two bodies will be made in the respective Assemblies. It is anticipated, with great interest, throughout the churches, there being, along with some opposition to it, a desire for the re-union of the churches, after a separation of thirty years. As the several meetings progress, we shall keep our readers informed of such of their proceedings as may be of general interest.

Independent Order of Good Templars.

Rev. James A. Davidson, the State Lecturer for this popular and prosperous temperance organization, has organized forty-one Lodges of the Order in the northwestern counties since January, and he has calls for his services from various sections that he hopes to comply with in due time. He lectured in two counties last Saturday, and organized a strong Lodge in each—at 2 P. M. in the Presbyterian Church, Centerville, Crawford county, and in the evening in the same day at Pleasantville, in Venango county. The previous evening, he organized a Lodge at Hydetown, Crawford county. The principal towns of the Oil Region now have flourishing Lodges. Mr. Davidson requests us to state that he has been ordered by the Grand Lodge officers to visit the county towns in the counties of Butler, Wayne, Ington, Green and Fayette, and to lecture and organize at each place. If he succeeds in this, there will not be a county of our State unrepresented in the coming session of the Grand Lodge. We bespeak for this hard-working and successful lecturer—who, by the way, is an old typo—the hearty co-operation of the press in the several localities he is soon to visit. The temperance cause is one in which the good of all parties and creeds are deeply interested, and it is to be lamented that those most in need of its pledge are the last to move in efforts of reformation. Good people who need nothing of this kind have to take the work in hand, and take by the hand the erring and the wayward and lead them to the brighter and better path. We wish well to all temperance efforts.

Chicago is going to have another grand college building. The Chicago Medical Journal for May contains a description of the new medical college, now in course of erection, belonging to the Rush Medical College of that city. In it there will be two large amphitheaters, each of which will seat some 700 persons. Besides these, there are smaller lecture, demonstration, dispensary and professor's rooms. There will be an immense museum, arranged with galleries and communicating with the other parts of the building. The estimated cost of the structure is $75,000.

The Detroit Tribune of the 14th says: "At a very full and harmonious meeting of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, held last evening, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. W. E. McLaren, of Peoria, Ill., to become their pastor. There is a strong probability that the call will be accepted. Mr. McLaren is a very agreeable and popular speaker, and an excellent pastor, and the church may well congratulate themselves upon filling so well the pulpit recently vacated by Rev. Mr. Prime." Mr. McLaren is son of the Rev. Dr. McLaren, of Pittsburgh, where he is well and favorably known.

Bishop Potter, with his ritualistic tendencies, is breeding trouble for the Episcopal Church, not of his own diocese merely, but of the country; for his example and his influence will, in their measure, be felt and extend beyond any merely arbitrary geographical lines. The organ of the Episcopal Church assails the Bishop in the severest terms because he thought proper to visit the "semi-Popish chapel of St. Alban's." This ritualistic question is bound to make trouble in the Episcopal Church. The last number of the Church Journal takes Bishop Kerfoot mildly to task, for leaning toward that for which Bishop Potter is so severely censured.

In the Paris Exposition the Americans, in the department of dentistry, are beyond all competition. The display of artificial teeth, the perfect imitation of nature in gums and palate are wonderful. But the French are equally great in artificial eyes and ears. The eyes are life itself. They not only supply an eye that is lost, but cover a shrunken or injured eye-ball with a shell that perfectly matches the other eye. The ears of delicately rosy gutta-percha are very pretty. If one has an ear cut off, bitten off, frozen off, or eaten away, here is a light and elegant substitute. It is said that ladies with large ears ever dress up with their hair, natural or acquired, and affect these pretty little artificial ears, of course with handsome ear rings.

The Issue in the Approaching Campaign.

A correspondent of the Blair county Whig, writing from Duncansville, relative to the approaching county convention there, says: "As far as the township of Allegheny is concerned, the issue in the coming campaign is a 'Free Railroad Law'—not a prohibitory measure such as the one which 'went through' the Senate last winter; but one equally as liberal in its provisions, as the one which that august body smothered. The man who receives the support of Allegheny township in the convention, must be unequivocally and actively in favor of the bill which passed the House of Representatives last winter. Our interpretation of a liberal, general railroad policy does not permit us to regard those who voted against the restoration of the Connellsville Railroad charter as being friendly to such policy. In taking this course we are not actuated by the slightest feeling of unfriendliness to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company—it is not that we love the Pennsylvania Railroad less, but ourselves more."

FILES! FILES!
THE AUBURN FILE WORKS
AUBURN, NEW YORK.
Would call the attention of manufacturers and those using Files and Rasps to their superior qualities. HAND CUT FILES, which they are now making from the best quality of cast steel, in the following styles: Hand, Mill, Saw, Round, Half-round, Square, Three-cut Files, Horse Rasps, and all other Files, which are in no respect inferior to any now made.
It accords neither with our taste or our principle to assert that our Files are the best or superior to those by any other manufacturer. The Files must speak for themselves, and those who have purchased (large) are sufficiently wise to accept the evidence of the file rather than the assertion of the manufacturers.
Your orders may be left with T. H. RICHARDS, Esq., 30 Fifth street, Pittsburgh, where samples of some of the principal kinds may be examined and specimens obtained. Your orders will be carefully executed at the manufactory, and warranted to give satisfaction or Files returned.
We have permission to refer to the Pittsburgh Novelty Co., who are now using our work to their entire satisfaction. Under date of November 28, 1867, they say:
"The files give general satisfaction in regard to temper and cut. The only objection we find is, they are too fine for our work. A coarser cut would suit us better. Please remember this when you send another order."
Also of May 6th, 1867, enclosing draft for $183 73.
"Your Files give satisfaction, and you have permission to use our name in regard to their quality."
Please call and examine samples before placing your orders.
H. G. THORNTON.

The Daily Commercial

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The London Daily News has a correspondent in Crete, who writes from a romantic spot on the slope of Mount Ida. His surroundings are, however, the reverse of romantic. The whole mountain, he writes, is covered with the dead bodies of women and children, who there sought refuge from the ravages of civil war, only to perish from exposure and starvation.

The Pope is in the market for a supply of cheer-leaders for his little army. The difficulty with him is how to raise the money. The correspondent of the Paris Standard intimates that a subscription will soon be set on foot among the faithful to assist the Holy Father over this difficulty. The understanding is that with the new weapons will be vigorously employed against the brigands that infest the Papal territory.

A Paris letter descriptive of the Exposition says: Why there is one room of carved wood clocks of every size and variety from Carlsruhe and Baden, which makes a Yankee long to pitch his country's collection into the Seine; and the collection of clocks and watches in the French department is astonishing in its variety, elegance and wonderful combinations of machinery. You can buy a neat and excellent, and even pretty clock for twenty-five cents. In Germany and Switzerland, of course, they are even cheaper.

The corner stone of the St. Xavier College, Cincinnati, was laid Thursday last. It will have a front on Sycamore street of seventy-five feet, and a depth on Seventh of one hundred and twenty-five feet. It will be four stories high, the entire height seventy feet. The college will contain a library with a capacity for 40,000 volumes; also a chapel capable of seating four hundred people. This is a Jesuit institution.

The remains of Robert A. Cooke, who, it was feared, perished in the flames at the burning of the Merchants' Hotel in Chicago, some ten days ago, have been discovered in the ruins of that building.

A youth of sixteen and a girl of fourteen eloped in New Britain, Conn., Monday night, but the girl's father caught them at the door-yard of a justice in an adjoining town, horsewhipped the lad, seized his daughter by the arm, seated her on the horse behind him, promised her a "good spanking" when they got home, forbid the would-be husband from ever being seen in New Britain again, and slowly signaled home.

The Salt Lake Telegraph has a letter dated "Jordan river, near the bridge," reporting the arrival there of the Star of the West, with a cargo of salt from the Great Salt Lake, via Jordan river, the first vessel that has sailed up the Jordan, and proving that river navigable.

An American lady in Paris went out shopping and was surprised at buying an elegant silk dress for $15, and could not account for the low figure until the polite Frenchman naively remarked to her, that in her country the "people have the luxury of self-government, you know, and prices are very high."

Twenty-four distilleries have been seized by the agents of the Government in the city of New York, and it is believed there are more of the same sort left in Washington, at the present time. A number of prominent distillers from parts of the country are taking the initiative in establishing a Bureau which will be a kind of independent Revenue Detective department. The duties of its officers shall be to watch distillation all through the States, and report suspicions of the same. Any attempted fraud on the part of any distiller are entertained, at once take his case in hand, irrespective of any quarter whatsoever toward the official revenue purchasers. This is to be done simply as a matter of self-preservation and to enable the members to pay the legal tax on the whisky and then dispose of it in the market at a fair price.

The chief native industry of Jerusalem is the manufacture of soap and what is called Jerusalem ware, consisting of chaplets, crucifixes, beads, crosses and the like, made principally of mother of pearl and olive wood, and sold to the pilgrims who annually repair to the Holy City to the number of from 6,000 to 8,000.

In the New York market the cattle brokers, the last week were speculating for a further rise in prices, came to grief Monday, the supply exceeding their calculations. Instead of an advance, a decline is reported of from $5 to $6 per head, compared with the prices of Monday last. A number of failures, in consequence, have taken place.

The Baltimore American says: "We shall feel more acutely, when reproached by Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania papers, for not having given the elective franchise to our recently emancipated slaves when it was in our power to do so, after Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania shall have enfranchised those who were born and domiciled among them as freeman and citizens."

PERSONAL.

—Mr. E. Bloeque, the newly appointed Turkish Minister, is shortly expected to arrive at Washington. He will be accompanied by his wife, and will live in great state, having already been liberally supplied with funds for that purpose, as a means of creating a Turkish sentiment in this country that may be counterbalanced by liberal sympathies manifested by Americans for the Greek subjects of the Porte. The Emperor's first wife was a daughter of the late Mr. Mott, of New York.

—The Noble County (Ohio) Republican says that old John Gray, the old revolutionary veteran, who at the age of 102 years was granted a pension of $500 per annum by Congress, has received his first semi-annual instalment. This the first money he has ever received from the Government.

—A curious story is told about Mr. Joseph McLaughlin, who drew the $10,000 prize in greenbacks at the fair for the soldiers' orphans, held in New York last winter. When his name and place of residence was given to the public, a house was at once besieged by hundreds of people anxious to see the lucky man, and hear his story. He was at that time living in 17th street, and at last, to avoid the public, he had to move to 31st street.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Betts, of Crestline, Ohio, obtained a verdict, May 8, of $2,350 against the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad company, for injuries received by an accident which occurred near Crestline, in October, 1865.

—The Parisian papers say that the Ambassador of Siam was present at the opening of the Exposition, and that at the approach of the Emperor and Empress, he threw himself on the ground and insisted that they should walk over his back. Since that was not correct, the whole imperial cortege came to a stand still. They tried to make the Ambassador understand that his humility was unnecessary. All in vain, he had to be lifted up by some officers and set on his feet.

—An American writing from Paris gives a description of the visit of the Emperor and Empress to the Exposition. Of the Empress he says: In marked contrast to the dress of the Empress—so plain and loose up to save it from dirt—was that of a lady who came along a few minutes later, her dress trailing a yard or more in the mud, for the morning was showery and the walk not over clean. Many ladies show as much common sense as Eugenie in this respect, but there are a large number, and I am sorry to say many American ladies, who think it very fine to sweep the passage ways of the exhibition and the streets of Paris with skirts of costly silk. They can have an opportunity of taking a lesson on taste in dress from the Empress. In the saloon and the drawing-room she dresses richly and elegantly, but at the opening of the exhibition, on the street, taking her daily rides or morning walks, her attire is very simple, inexpensive and in excellent taste. The Emperor makes no parade, evidently wishes to avoid a display, and I doubt not would esteem it a great relief if he could make his appearance on the street without being noticed. He raised his hat repeatedly at the like mark of respect on the part of workmen, and seemed to be wholly absorbed in a study of the articles displayed, as if he had nothing else to do, as if the weight of an empire was not on his shoulders, and the future cloudless.

Liberal Amendment to the Reform Bill---Insurrection in Spain---The Suez Canal.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The steamship Java arrived to-day from Liverpool on the 4th, and Queenstown on the 5th. She brings 500,000 francs in specie. Her news is mainly anticipated.

It appears the amendment to the reform bill carried against the British government in the House of Commons, was for the reduction of preliminary period of residence to become a voter, from two years to one year. Mr. Bright made a warm speech in its favor.

It was reported that great agitation prevailed throughout Catalonia. Hostile manifestations have been made against the Captain General in Barcelona, at the bull fights. Troops had been hastily dispatched into the Province of Terragona and the mountains of Figueras, where armed bands were stated to be in the field. MEXICO

A BATCH OF CONFLICTING RUMORS.

New Lease of Life to Miramon.

Early Surrender of the Capital.

NEW YORK, May 15.—The steamer Columbia from Havana on the 11th, has arrived with Vera Cruz dates to the 5th.

News from Imperial sources reports the defeat of the Liberals besieging Puebla, and that Miramon was pressing them towards San Luis. Miramon, it is said, was not even wounded.

Maximilian is said to have arrived at the City of Mexico with 8,000 men on the 29th of April. Battle was given to General Diaz, who was completely defeated, losing all his artillery and 150 prisoners, who were immediately incorporated in the imperial ranks. Juan Alvarez is also said to have withdrawn all his forces from Diaz after the Puebla massacre.

Passengers from Vera Cruz by the same steamer say all the above is false, except that Miramon was not killed. A gentleman who left the capital on April 25th feels sure that no one left for Vera Cruz after that date. Marquez had 37,000 men in the city, and was closely besieged by Diaz, with 11,000. Marquez has abandoned Tacubaya and Chapultepec. Both aqueducts supplying water to the city had been cut off, and no food came into it. There were, however, several artesian wells in the city, which could supply the inhabitants with water. This gentleman spoke with a courier from Queretaro on the 28th, who declared that place more closely besieged than ever. The general opinion in Mexico was that the capital would soon have to surrender.

General Borendu, the Imperialist, had died in Vera Cruz from wounds from besiegers. There are two Imperial men-of-war at Vera Cruz, both iron-clad built steamers.

Sizal and Merceda are in the hands of the revolutionists. Vera Cruz papers of the 4th publish no news. Twenty-five recruits from Havana had arrived there.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—The following news is received from Hon. L. D. Campbell: His messenger to Juarez returned to day, having made the trip from Matamoras to San Luis Potosi and back in fifteen days, remaining in San Luis two days. He was treated with the greatest courtesy by the Liberals. He reports that Escobedo had 20,000 men at Queretaro, and was in possession of all the roads but one, with the expectation of getting that. Maximilian was inside the city with 15,000 men. The feeling among the Liberals against his native officers is bitter, and in case of their capture it was thought it would not be possible to save them. Juarez and his Generals are confident of speedily taking Queretaro, and expect to be in the city of Mexico in two months. The messenger left Juarez at San Luis on the 23d ult.

FROM ST. LOUIS.

Proceedings of the Steamboatmen's Convention.

ST. LOUIS, May 15.—The Steamboatmen's Convention passed resolutions to-day setting forth that as the laws now in force in relation to navigation and commerce apply almost exclusively to ocean navigation, they should be modified to suit inland navigation, and especially high pressure boilers and machinery; that to avoid explosions boilers should be constructed only of double hammered charcoal iron or steel; that the law compelling the use of lock-up valves is impolitic and unnecessary, and casts a slur on engineers; that the taxes and expenses, consisting of licenses, enrollments, inspections, hospital dues, hotel license, passenger and other taxes, to which no other branch of business is equally subject, bears so heavily on river steamers, many of which are of the small class, that it will either drive them from the rivers or compel them to extort from the public; that when the master or owners of a steamer equip and man the same in accordance with the law, said boat or owners should not be held for damages arising out of the acts of any licensed officers. The resolutions also prescribe a rule for the measurement of steamers, and provide for the appointment of a committee to draw up a bill embodying the above points, and such others as may be deemed desirable, and request the co-operation of the Secretary of the Treasury in having it pass Congress, said committee to go to Washington and engineer the matter.

THE REPORTED MASSACRE AT FORT BUFORD.

What the Story Grew Out of.

The correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, writing from the mountains, explains the reported massacre at Fort Buford. We quote:

Early in February a few straggling miners were pursuing their way down the banks of the river, when they were suddenly attacked by the Indians and robbed. They fled to the fort for protection, and were pursued by three bands of the Indians, who set themselves about the fort and remained there for several weeks, as nearly as we can learn. The Indians captured the saw mill, situated some three quarters of a mile from the fort, and the garrison were compelled to dig a well inside the stockade. While the Indians were about the fort, one long engagement took place, but no one was killed upon our side.

THE latest advices received in London before the sailing of the last steamer stated that the condition of the Prince Imperial of France was far from satisfactory. It is feared that he may fall into a consumption. This news gives some interest to the announcement of the London Court Journal that the Empress Eugenie is again enceinte. It is proper to say, however, that this assertion seems to have been generally discredited.

THE WHEAT CROP.—During a trip over the Michigan Central Railroad a few days since, we took occasion to mark the condition of the wheat crop on the line of the road, and we take pleasure in saying that the prospect for a munificent crop never looked better. Public Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—One of the most gratifying dramatic performances it has ever been our pleasure to attend, was that given last night at the Academy of Music. Mr. Marsden Ryan, with the same alacrity and spirit as of old, his Alfred Evelyn being an admirable impersonation throughout. He was called before the curtain at the close of the play, deservedly applauded by the large and fashionable audience that filled the house. The support was good, and every member in the cast performed well, particularly Miss Annie Wolfe, who gave a charming delineation of the ambitious and designing Miss Clara Douglas. The orchestra is large and tasteful, and the music during the night and last night, we failed to hear. The stage appointments are entirely new and tasteful, and the house is elected with the establishment in first-class; just what our intelligent and refined citizens desire. Mr. Marsden will appear as "Charles Surface," supported by an extraordinary cast.

At the Opera House, the "Black Crook," still continues to draw crowded audiences. The "Demon Dancer" is very attractive. It will be repeated to-night.

At the Theater, Charlie White's Combination and the popular ballet troupe continue to please large audiences.

The Varieties attraction, the "Black Cook" will be performed again to-night.

DEXTER'S UNCLE.—Star Henry will be exhibited on Monday, May 20th, during the exhibition. All persons wishing to improve their breeds of horses would do well to call and see him, as he will remain at the Oakland Park this season. For style, speed and beauty, he cannot be surpassed in this country.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF NEURALGIA.—There is no physical affliction harder to suffer than the Neuralgia. THE COALMEN'S TRUST COMPANY.—In another column our readers will find the advertisement of this new and responsible financial institution. Our city cotemporaries have devoted considerable space to describing their new and elegant banking house, No. 65 Smithfield street, all of which was well deserved, for the Coalmen's Trust Company now occupy one of the most convenient, comfortable and best arranged banking rooms in the "Iron City." But we think that all this is only of secondary importance, and that the point to which we call the attention of our readers is the sound and well-organized character of this prosperous concern. The stockholders are among the most responsible men in our community—just such men as the public desire to export upon their funds, and intrust to the attention of our business men. Mr. A. J. Baker, the President, and Mr. E. L. Roberts, the Cashier, bring the institution the experience of years; finely disciplined business habits, and the most important and desirable management. As has been said of them—"they are shrewd, active and energetic officers." The stockholders are the following gentlemen: A. J. Baker, W. J. Patterson, A. A. Herron, Wm. Mothersal, Thos. Farrow, James H. Hopkins, A. J. Hagan, H. A. Freyvogel, J. D. Johnson, D. L. Patterson. The Coalmen's Trust Company is a safe depository for transacting business. We gladly commend it to our business men as a safe, reliable and trustworthy medium.

BE WISE IN TIME—READ THE FOLLOWING.—Mr. James Greenwood, residing at North Common, Allegheny City, writes the following:—"I can speak from experience in regard to the Dispepsia Remedy, and the ability of Holmes's Sanitary Tonic to effectually cure it. No one need undertake to tell me that Dispepsia is not a life destroying disease. I have endured it for years, in a constant ill health and strength that tended to destroy my existence. I tried all sorts of remedies but never obtained the long wished for relief until induced to use Dr. Holmes's Sanitary Tonic. I followed the direction in regard to doses and times for taking them with great care, and after using only three bottles I find myself so much improved that I think about one more bottle will entirely cure me. My testimony in favor of this valuable medicine will be of any value to you, you are welcome to it, with ten thousand thanks for the good I have derived by its use. I say to all Dispepsics, be wise in time and use Dr. Holmes's Sanitary Tonic. It will cure you just as certainly as that the sun rises and sets." For sale by all respectable druggists. PRINCE & CO.'S Automatic Organs and Melodeons, with "Patent Tremolo Attachment," and "Patent Manual Sub Bass," are acknowledged to be the best reed instrument made. They have a sweetness, richness, fullness and completeness of tone that is soul satisfying, and are devoid of that reedy quality of sound which is too frequently heard in other reed instruments. Charlotte Blume has just received an entire new stock, which will be sold at a less price than organs of inferior make, and sold for in this city.

All the World Over!

There are but few spots on our globe where HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are not known, and, when known, appreciated.

In the UNITED STATES and BRITISH AMERICA it has become a household word. As a protective against malaria, epidemic fevers, Fever and Ague, and other diseases, produced by miasmatic influences, it stands far ahead of all other preparations, and is so considered by the most eminent physicians of the day.

In SOUTH and CENTRAL AMERICA, MEXICO and WEST INDIES it has obtained a firm hold on the minds of the people, and is implicitly relied upon as a certain preventive and cure for the many malarious diseases incident to those tropical regions.

In AUSTRALIA, TASMANIA, NEW ZEALAND, and adjacent Islands, its progress has been marvelous. Merchants, Miners, Farmers, Manufacturers and Squatters, all endorse it. Thousands already has it saved from the pernicious effects of miasma arising from low swampy grounds so prevalent in those countries.

In CHINA and the EAST INDIES it is working its way with rapid strides, and is extensively used in the hospitals.

Throughout WESTERN EUROPE, even, its influence is being felt; and the day is not far distant when HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS will become in the old world what it now is in the new—a never-failing joy to the afflicted.
